8. Main Content

This draft establishes the quality and composition factors for meat products, physical and chemical properties, labelling and the classification based on the thermal treatment performed.

It includes the optional indications, based on the time of production, that can be used with cured hams and paletas [pork shoulder]. It updates the current marking system for fresh hams and paletas, allowing the use of new technologies.

It also contains a list of meat products, with their particular properties, that have been made into traditional products, with names established for their use.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

It codifies and updates the profuse and varied current regulations on meat products, making them simpler, easier to understand and more transparent.
