8. Main Content

Royal Decree 1013/2009 of 19 June 2009 on the characterisation and registration of agricultural machinery established the standards for verifying the power and equipment of safety devices, and for regulating the basic conditions for registering such machinery in the Official Agricultural Machinery Records (ROMA).

With regard to the power of motors, once certain tractors with a power management system have been placed on the market, it will be necessary to specify with greater precision the power with which these new tractors are recorded in the ROMA.

With regard to the amendment to Section 6 of Royal Decree 1013/2009, the reference made therein to Royal Decree 1435/1992 of 27 November 1992 laying down provisions for the application of Council Directive 89/392/EEC on the approximation of the laws of the Member States relating to machinery must be amended owing to derogations by Royal Decree 1644/2008 of 10 October 2008 laying down standards for the marketing and entry into service of machinery, the aforementioned Directive having been updated.

Finally, in order to have a list of equipment that use pesticides, with a view to planning and regulating their control, a single transitional provision has been inserted into Royal Decree 1013/2009, establishing a deadline of two years for registering in ROMA any equipment already in use for phytosanitary treatment and fertiliser distribution. In order to complete the list, which has already been started, it has been deemed appropriate to remove this maximum deadline from the transitional provision and to facilitate the registration in ROMA of such equipment. Within the same context, the second final provision has been amended to identify unequivocally the machinery that does not have a chassis number.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

Considering that not all motors have one of these management systems, and also that they do not act continuously, it is necessary to specify the fact that the registered power is that of the motor with the management system deactivated. However, it is permitted for this additional information to be provided in order to improve the information available concerning tractors and other self-propelled machinery.

On the other hand, Royal Decree 1013/2009 establishes a two-year period for the registration in ROMA of equipment already in use for the transportation of plant protection products and the distribution of fertilisers, and it is appropriate to remove this deadline in order to complement the list and facilitate registration.
