These regulations prescribe road markings to indicate to vehicles the presence of road humps. No standards or testing requirements are prescribed.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

The Traffic Signs Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1979 (hereinafter referred to as the 1979 Regulations) prescribe traffic signs that may be used for the control of traffic. The regulations which are the subject of this submission amend the 1979 Regulations by prescribing a new road marking to indicate to vehicular traffic the presence of speed cushions and to amend the permitted variants for other road humps. Road humps are only constructed on roads which are subject to a speed limit of 30 miles per hour or less.
