8. Main Content

The draft decision lays down the conditions of use for the frequency band 22.00-23.60 GHz for fixed service point-to-point link radio installations. It is foreseen that the decision, once adopted, shall replace the existing provisions and repeal the amended Decision No. 01-1230 of the Regulatory authority for electronic and postal communication of December 19, 2001 laying down the general, as well as technical, operating conditions for the frequency band 22.00-23.60 GHz for fixed service transmission links.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

The draft decision aims to introduce a new power line enlarged to cope with frequency plans already authorised. A package of measures is foreseen for the new, high-capacity power lines given the go-ahead in this draft decision, in order to phase in systematic use of antennas bearing higher yield than those used up until now (class 4 antenna).

10. Reference Documents - Basic Texts

Reference(s) to basic text(s): amended Decision No. 01-1230 of the Regulatory authority for electronic and postal communication, dated 19 December 2001, laying down the general and technical operating conditions for the frequency band 22.00-23.60 GHz for fixed service transmission links.
The basic texts must be forwarded with an earlier notification: 2001/320/F
