8. Main Content

This Order defines the criteria which, if met, will permit operators of a plant covered by heading 2791 or 2240 of the nomenclature of plants classified for environmental protection under Article R. 511-9 of the Environmental Code, to confer end-of-waste status to waste from animal fat, used cooking oil and biofuels made therefrom and intended for use as fuel in a combustion plant with a thermal input greater than 0.1 MW.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

This Order enables, by way of a voluntary process, operators of plants covered by heading 2791 or 2240 of the nomenclature of plants classified for environmental protection under Article R. 511-9 of the Environmental Code, to confer end-of-waste status to waste from animal fat, used cooking oil or biofuels made therefrom so they can be used as fuel in combustion plants rather than being sent to an incinerator. The end-of-waste criteria defined in the Order notably include compliance with technical characteristics and concentration limit values for certain components, according to the measurement techniques mentioned in the Order. This will help promote the development of waste recovery, a Community objective.
