8. Main Content

In conformance with article 2 of the draft Decree defining the conditions under which declarations are underwritten and authorisations are granted regarding cryptology methods and features which are exempt from preliminary formalities, the aim of the provisions of the text is to stipulate the lists
cryptology methods and features which are exempt from all preliminary formalities and the operations (supply, use, export, import) for which the exemption applies.

The reference to Directive 83/189/EEC does not feature in this draft Order, but it will definitely be included in the final text.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

The text is to be adopted in application of article 28 of the Law regulating telecommunications of 29 December 1990, as amended by article 17 of the Law regulating telecommunications of 26 July 1996. It supplements the draft Decree defining the conditions under which declarations are underwritten and authorisations are granted regarding cryptology methods and features. Its provisions clarify the implementation of the new systems defined by the Law on cryptology methods and features.

In conformance with article 8, point 1 of Directive 83/189/EEC, this notification is a response to point D.1. of the observations of the Commission no. 7302036632 of 29/10/97.
