8. Main Content

The draft Order submitted amends the Order of 1 August 2006 laying down provisions made pursuant to Articles R. 111-18 to R. 111-18-7 of the Construction and Housing Code.
It defines the technical accessibility rules applicable to collective residential buildings and individual houses during their construction.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

On 26 February 2014, the Prime Minister concluded the consultation on the new implementation procedures for the accessibility component of the Law of 11 February 2005 on the equality of rights and opportunities, participation and citizenship of disabled persons. He announced the decisions taken by the government to maintain and strengthen the objective of making society accessible. This consultation, announced at the Inter-ministerial Committee on Disability of 25 September 2013, brought together all stakeholders in the field of accessibility to the built environment.
Based on the conclusions of the consultation, the Prime Minister confirmed that a number of rules relating to accessibility were being developed, firstly to make adjustments and updates and secondly to add to them to take better account of all forms of disability. Among the proposals resulting from the consultation, the Government notably recognised the need to amend the regulations relating to the accessibility of collective residential buildings and individual houses during their construction.
