8. Main Content

The proposal is to introduce a new building type for huts and bothies which will with some exceptions, exempt them from the Building (Scotland) Regulations 2004. The exemption will require that huts and bothies be constructed to meet key health and safety aspects for public safety.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

Required to maintain technical guidance that is up-to-date and fit for purpose. The proposed amendment of schedule 1 to regulation 3 of the Building (Scotland) Regulations 2004 will introduce a new building type for huts and bothies. This would allow particular huts and bothies to be built without obtaining formal approval of a building warrant and also be exempt from the building regulations.
