8. Main Content

The provisions of the notified texts lay down technical standards which make it possible to implement the national taxi availability register (listing information concerning the identification, availability and geolocation of taxis) and to prevent electronic cruising as provided by Law No 2014-1104 of 1 October 2014 on taxis and passenger vehicles with a driver. This law is implemented by a draft decree, which has also been notified, a draft order including a charter, to which taxi operators and search engines will be able to sign up, and a developed data processing notice.

The draft order approves the Charter and lays down, among other things, the obligations of parties (service provision, implementation of applications, arrangements for inclusion in the register, and so on).

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

The purpose of implementing the taxi availability register is to modernise the taxi driver profession and to optimise the monopoly over cruising, extended to electronic cruising, in order to improve the meeting of supply and demand for taxis.
