8. Main Content

The Decree relates to the amendment of chapter II concerning the distances between installations and between containers to clarify this and establish distances which are more proportionate to the risks presented by the liquids under storage.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

Corrosive liquids are hazardous in terms of the chemical attack sustained by persons or installations constructed of materials which are not resistant to such liquids upon contact thereof. In this light, when contact is avoided by means of effective systems or devices, it becomes unnecessary to maintain the statutory distances between other elements of the installations.
