8. Main Content

This draft Order is intended to define the quality, grading, presentation and labelling rules to be adhered to by fresh bananas destined for human consumption in their natural state, after packaging and wrapping.

This has been drawn up according to the format of the framework standard of the Economic Commission for Europe of the UNO (EEC/UNO) which applies to fruit and fresh vegetables, which has been used in common quality standards for the European Economic Community.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

The draft text replaces the Order of 20 November 1975 in order to bring the quality and trade regulations in line with developments in production, trade and consumption, as agreed with those in the trade.

It would be appropriate henceforth to provide a better definition of the regulations corresponding to the requirements of the market which from 1993 will be characterised by increased competitiveness.

These regulations will of course be reflected in any adoption of Community-wide quality standards.
