8. Main Content

This decree sets out the nutritional requirements concerning the daily composition of meals served in school canteens, the frequency dishes are served over a minimum number of successive meals and portion size, the content of these requirements being provided for in an order. The rules defined are intended to reduce simple-glucoside and fat content and to increase fibre, vitamin, iron and calcium content. Secondly, it specifies that the products delivered by suppliers must be accompanied by technical data sheets to enable compliance with the rules of the daily composition of meals, dish serving frequencies and portion sizes described above, and finally that all documents supporting compliance with these rules must be kept for 6 months in order to facilitate inspection.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

Child obesity is a major public health issue. Good eating habits are notably acquired at school, where many children take meals. The recommendation-based actions taken to date have proven ineffective. The introduction of these requirements will enable the widespread implementation of nutritional rules for the composition of menus and an improvement in the quality of meals served in school canteens.
