8. Main Content

This standard applies to the design, construction and use of newly constructed buildings. In cases of alteration or restoration, this standard shall be taken into consideration so that the levels of safety in the elements concerned are greater than those which the original design had.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

This standard aims to provide the criteria which must be followed in Spain for considering seismic action on the design, construction, alteration and conservation of those buildings and structures to which it applies.
