8. Main Content

The Non-automatic Weighing Instruments Regulations 2016 and The Measuring Instruments Regulations 2016 implement the NAWI (2014/31/EU) Directive aligned under the New Legislative Framework (NLF) text of EU Decision 768/2008/EC and Regulation 765/2008/EC on accreditation and market surveillance.

The Regulation revokes and replaces The Non-automatic Weighing Instruments Regulations 2000 (as amended). It introduces new obligations on manufacturers, importers and distributors. It also make detailed provisions concerning the bodies which are entitled to carry out conformity assessment and the market surveillance regime. The scope and essential requirements are unchanged.

In addition to the safeguard provisions of the Directive the new legislation also includes national inservice control provisions.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

The legislation not only transposes the provisions of the NAWI Directive but includes in-service national control provisions for individual instruments once they have been place on the market and put into use both in relation to metrological performance and continued suitability. Disqualification and re-qualification provisions provide for the control of non-conforming instruments by appropriate persons.
