8. Main Content

The draft decree relating to the reference to the medical service rendered (MSR) on the outer packaging and leaflet of medicinal specialities includes the reference to the MSR level of reimbursable medicinal specialities on their outer packaging and leaflet. Specifically, a symbol will appear on the outer packaging of the medication to indicate the level of the medication's medical service rendered, and said level will be indicated on its leaflet, along with the internet address of the public database of medicines to inform the patient about the meaning of the new reference.

9. Brief Statement of Grounds

The medical service rendered (MSR) is a criterion that informs the authorities responsible for the approval of the reimbursement of medications on the clinical benefit of medications. More specifically, it enables the question to be answered: does the medication have sufficient clinical interest to be supported by national solidarity? It shall be evaluated by the Transparency Committee of the High Authority of Health, on the basis of scientific data. It helps set the rate of support for the medication by the National Union of Health Insurance Funds (UNCAM).

It takes into account:

- the severity of the condition;
- the efficacy and adverse effects of the drug;
- the preventative, healing and symptomatic nature of the medication;
- its place in the therapeutic strategy in relation to other available therapies;
- its interest in terms of public health.

It is qualified as major or significant, moderate, low or insufficient.

The inclusion of the level of medical service rendered for each indication on the packaging of medications helps to foster patient access to reliable, scientific and independent data. For the protection of public health, this measure forms part of a process of transparency and equal access to medical information, and promotes the proper use of medication.
